Still waiting on the shipment of electronics, otherwise things are basically ready to go. I should have a full kit of materials to assemble a RepRap available in a week or two and a RepRap that just needs to be assembled in a couple weeks. Currently working on video tutorials for assembly (I'm going to make this really easy). If you have interest in a RepRap in the meantime, let me know and I can have a kit ready to ship out as soon as the electronics come. Material kits will likely be around $600-700 (very cheap compared to a $10k+ commercial version). Feel free contact us on the contact form if you have any questions.
