

Header upgraded and tutorials started

Written by Steve Hildinger

Saturday, 14 January 2012 01:55 -

I've shot the raw footage to start working on the tutorials. I've gotten the intro video already processed. The rest of the tutorials to put the frame together should be done within a day. I should be able to start putting those up on my YouTube channel and getting them onto the site in the next couple days. I've put a motto for the business onto the header and added some gears that I wanted to in order to make it look nicer. Starting to look pretty good, but yet a lot more work to get done.