

Updates

Written by Steve Hildinger
Sunday, 01 July 2012 07:00 -

Figured we should post a new article :) We have a RepRap available for sale right now and are working on tutorials to assemble one right now. We plan on taking it apart and selling kits that will be easy for people to assemble. The electronics, wires, and hotend will be all ready to attach. If you have any interest in this kit, just let us know. We are currently finishing up the tutorials for them, but they go together just like a Prusa Mendel RepRap. We have a Facebook page if you would like to visit us there and "Like" our page we would appreciate it.